THE COLONIAL CLERGY OF AMERICA

THE history of every New England town during the colonial period was in large measure that of its churches, and the history of these churches was largely that of their clergy. The ministers of that period were the leaders in theology, law, medicine, education, and to a considerable degree, in politics and Indian warfare. Often they were the only educated persons in a community. What is true of New England in this respect is more or less true also of the other colonies. Harvard College was founded in 1636 to provide a literate ministry for the churches of New England, and it is to be noted that of the thousand colonial ministers in Massachusetts nine-tenths of them were college graduates and many others were privately tutored by college-trained clergymen.

The Society of the Descendants of the Colonial Clergy was incorporated by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, on February 9, 1933. Its major purposes are "to cherish and maintain the memory of the lives and works of the colonial clergy of America; to perpetuate their spirit and the religious freedom which they sought in the New World; to keep in remembrance the churches which they served; to promote the fitting celebration of anniversaries both of colonial ecclesiastical bodies and churches and of events in the lives of their clergy; to collect and preserve documents, histories, biographical sketches and memorials pertaining to the colonial clergy of America and the parishes which they served; and to promote social intercourse and friendship among the descendants of the colonial clergy now and hereafter."

The first endeavor of the founders of these colonies, which later formed the United States of America, was the continuance of the Christian institutions under which they had been born. As Francis Baylies said: "The clergy were the principal instruments in keeping alive the spirit and enterprise of the English race in the wilds of America. Nor did they confine themselves to ecclesiastical functions. Their influence was felt in the civil affairs of Government, and even in the transactions of ordinary life."

There were several thousand settled ministers in colonial America, each of whom, according to his ability, education and station, was an unquestioned leader in his time and place. With the passage of many decades some of the ancient parishes which they served have ceased to exist; many are still strong and flourishing. It is to ensure the perpetuation of the memory of these leaders of colonial times, the founders and shapers of our national character and institutions, that this Society of the Descendants of the Colonial Clergy was formed.

Eligibility

"Any person shall be eligible for membership who is at least twenty-one years of age, and a lineal descendant of an ancestor who was a clergyman regularly ordained, installed or settled over any Christian church within the limits of the thirteen colonies prior to July 4, 1776."—From the By-laws.

The Society includes the descendants of Colonial Clergymen of all denominations.

BY - LAWS

ARTICLE I.

NAME, PURPOSE, AND SEAL.

1. The name of this corporation and its purposes shall be as set forth in the Agreement of Association and Articles of Organization or any amendments thereof.

2. The seal of this corporation shall be circular in form, two inches in diameter, and shall represent the Meeting House of the First Parish in Hingham, encircled by a band one-fourth inch wide, on which shall appear the legend: "Society of the Descendants of the Colonial Clergy", with the dates 1607 - 1620 - 1776 at the bottom of the band.

ARTICLE II.

MEMBERSHIP AND DUES.

1. The members shall be those who signed the Agreement of Association and those who are elected as hereinafter provided. Any person shall be eligible for membership who is at least twenty-one years of age, and a lineal descendant of an ancestor who was a clergyman regularly ordained, installed, or settled over any Christian church within the limits of the thirteen original colonies prior to July 4, 1776.

Any person less than twenty-one years of age, the issue of a member in good standing of this Society, may be admitted as a Junior Life Member of this Society upon the payment of such dues as the Council shall determine from time to time, but no such Junior Life Member shall be entitled to a vote nor to attend the business meetings of the Corporation. A Junior Life Member who has paid the necessary life membership dues shall automatically become an active Life Member on reaching twenty-one years of age.

2. Application for membership shall be in such form as the Council shall determine. Applications shall be referred to the Historian for examination and report. His report shall be submitted to the Council. Persons whose applications shall have been approved by the Historian and by the Council shall become members of the society upon payment of dues as provided below.

3. Members may elect to pay dues annually or to become life members. The annual dues and the life membership fee shall be such as are fixed from time to time at meetings of the corporation. The membership of persons who fail to pay their annual dues may be terminated in such manner as the Council shall determine, and the Council shall also determine the requirements for reinstating former members.

ARTICLE III.

MEETINGS.

1. An annual meeting of the corporation shall be held on the first Monday in May. If it shall not have been held on the date fixed or by adjournment therefrom, a meeting in lieu of the annual meeting shall be held as soon as convenient. The place of such meeting shall be designated by the Council, and shall preferably be some colonial meeting house.

2. Special meetings of the corporation may be called by the Governor, and shall be called by him, or, in case of his absence, incapacity, or refusal, by any other officer, when directed so to do by the Council, or whenever so requested in writing by at least fifteen members.

3. At any meeting of the corporation, the presence in person or by proxy of a majority of the members, or ten members, whichever number is smaller, shall be necessary and sufficient to constitute a quorum.

4. Notices of all meetings shall be sent to all members at their addresses as they appear on the records of the corporation, at least seven days before any meeting. No notice of the time, place, or purpose of any meeting of the members shall be required if every member, or his attorney thereunto authorized, by a writing which is filed with the records of the meeting waives such notice.

5. Each member shall be entitled to one vote. Absent members may vote by proxy. No proxy which is dated more than six months before the meeting named therein shall be accepted, and no proxy shall be valid after final adjournment of such meeting. Proxies need not be sealed nor attested.

6. Any meeting of the members may be adjourned to any other time or place by the members present or represented at the meeting, although less than a quorum; and it shall not be necessary to notify any member of any adjournment.

ARTICLE IV.

1. The officers of the corporation shall consist of a Governor, Deputy Governor, Historian, Secretary, Treasurer, Chaplain, Chancellor, Marshal, and such other officers as the Council or the members may from time to time elect or appoint. There shall be a Council which shall consist of the officers and six other members of the corporation, two of whom shall be elected each year. All officers shall be members, and shall be elected by a majority of the members at any annual or special meeting. All officers and members of the Council shall hold office for three years and until their successors are elected, except that at the meeting for organization, or as soon as convenient thereafter, two members of the Council shall be elected for each of the periods ending with the annual meetings of 1934, 1935, and 1936, respectively.

2. Any vacancy in the Council or any other office may be filled by the members at a meeting called for the purpose. Unless and until so filled, any vacancy may be filled for the unexpired balance of the term by vote of the Council, or by appointment by all of the Council if less than a quorum shall remain in office. In case of the temporary absence or disability of any officer other than a member of the Council, the Council may appoint a person to perform the duties of such office during such absence or disability.

3. Any officer or member of the Council may be removed at any annual or special meeting by vote of a majority of the members of the corporation.

ARTICLE V.

GOVERNOR.

The Governor shall preside at all meetings of the members and of the Council. In his absence from any meeting, the Deputy Governor shall preside. In the absence of both the Governor and the Deputy Governor, a chairman shall be appointed by the meeting.

ARTICLE VI.

He shall conduct the general correspondence of the corporation, and shall notify members of their election to membership and to office. He shall have charge of the seal; and, together with the presiding officer, he shall certify all acts and orders of the corporation. Under the direction of the Governor or the officer calling a meeting, he shall give notice of the time and place of all meetings of the members and of the Council.

ARTICLE VII.

He shall have the custody of all historical, biographical, and genealogical books, papers, manuscripts, and relics, of which the Society may be possessed. He may deposit such books, papers, manuscripts, and relics as he considers of sufficient value or importance with the American Antiquarian Society or elsewhere for safekeeping, provided the same are marked, "The property of the Society of the Descendants of the Colonial Clergy". He may receive such fees from the corporation as the Council shall authorize for his services in examining applications for membership. If and when directed by the Council, it shall be his duty to collect and publish lists of members and material relating to the colonial churches and their clergy, such publication to be at the expense of the corporation.

ARTICLE IX.

CHAPLAIN.

The Chaplain shall conduct such devotional and religious services as may be called for in the course of business or exercises of the Society.

ARTICLE X.

CHANCELLOR.

The Chancellor shall attend to such legal matters as may be necessary or expedient for the welfare of the Society.

ARTICLE XI.

MARSHAL.

The Marshal shall form the members for parades and processions, and shall act as commander on such occasions.

ARTICLE XII.

COUNCIL.

1. The Council shall have control and management of the affairs of the Society. It shall act upon applications for membership as provided above. It shall determine the compensation and duties, in addition to those prescribed by the by-laws, of all officers, agents, and employees of the corporation.

2. Meetings of the Council shall be held at such time and place as the Council shall determine. Meetings may be called by the Governor at any time, and shall be called by him, or, in case of his absence, incapacity, or refusal, by any other officer, upon the request in writing of any three members of the Council or of any fifteen members of the corporation.

3. Notice of the time and place of all meetings of the Council shall be given by the Secretary or the officer calling the meeting. Notice may be given orally, by telephone, telegraph, or in writing; notice given in time to enable a member of the Council to attend, or in any case notice sent by mail or telegraph to his usual or last known place of business or residence, at least three days before the meeting, shall be sufficient. Any meeting of the Council shall be a legal meeting without notice if each member, by a writing filed with the records of the meeting waives such notice. Any member of the Council who attends a meeting, or who waives notice thereof by a writing filed with the records of the meeting, shall be deemed to have been duly notified of such meeting.

4. At any meeting of the Council, three members of the Council shall constitute a quorum, but a less number may adjourn any meeting from time to time without further notice. The vote of a majority of a quorum shall be sufficient for the transaction of business.

ARTICLE XIII.

COMMITTEES.

1. The Council may delegate to an Executive Committee, to consist of not less than three members of the Council, such of its functions for such periods as it may determine.

2. The Council may delegate to a Finance Committee, which shall consist of not less than three members of the corporation who need not be members of the Council, such duties in connection with the collection and the investment of moneys of the Society as it may see fit.

3. The Council may delegate such of its functions as it sees fit to other committees, to be constituted in such manner as it sees fit.

ARTICLE XVI.

AMENDMENT.

Any of these by-laws may be altered, amended, or repealed by vote of a majority of the members of the corporation at any annual or special meeting. The nature or substance of the proposed amendment or repeal shall be stated in the notice of the meeting.
